KUAI & TATAKI

The Art of Raw

The tradition of eating raw fish has long been cherished in Chinese cuisine, with Kuai - thinly sliced raw fish paired with aromatic dips - celebrating the purity and freshness of each ingredient.

Meanwhile, the Japanese technique of Tataki offers a delightful contrast, lightly searing the surface of fish or meat to enhance its smoky aroma, often paired with zesty citrus-based sauces like ponzu for a burst of vibrant flavor.

Inspired by these rich traditions, we're proud to present our new Kuai & Tataki dishes: a modern twist on time-honored techniques, blending delicate textures with bold Asian flavors. Experience the art of raw, reimagined at Ping Pong.

ALLERGIES AND INTOLERANCES

Although we separate ingredients and clean down all work areas and equipment, the presence of allergenic ingredients in our kitchens means we cannot guarantee that any of our dishes are free from those allergens. If you have a severe allergy, we would advise that our menu may not be suitable for you. If you have any questions at all, please speak to a member of our team. If you have a food allergy or intolerance, please let us know before you order. We take allergies very seriously and work hard to provide a wide choice to accommodate a range of dietary needs. Our Allergen Matrix, specifying allergens present in each dish, is available from our team on request.

Please note: all our dishes and drinks may contain traces of nuts, nut oils or egg.

Please be aware: shrimp is a common ingredient used in many forms of Asian cooking.
